BOOTH
"The Big Bad Wulf", brutally

woman

who had been ill for the past two weeks, and living by herself in the Perrault Forest. He is in the middle of perfecting his signature,
the deep frying and cannibalization of his victim, when Ms. Hood's fourteen-year-old granddaughter,
"Little Red", stops by with some food for her grandmother, something that Wulf never expected.

RED
Oh my, Grandma!

TAKE 1

RED
You are sounding so much worse than before! I brought some stuff that will hopefully make you feel better.

TAKE 3

RED
I was so sorry to hear that the Doctor thinks it's rabies.

TAKE 1

RED
Oh, Grandma, my favorite! Fried quail!

TAKE 3

RED
Thank you so much!

WULF
So, eh, darling, this is an...unexpected treat. What brings you?

TAKE 1

RED
Oh, Grandma, I told you I was coming by. Wow, your nose

TAKE 3

RED
is really big and swollen!

WULF
The better to smell that lovely stuff you brought my, my dear.

TAKE 1

RED

Oh, I almost forgot! Here, let me get that for you!

TAKE 2

RED

Here you go, Grandma! I don't know why you wanted dog food,

RED

but I guess rabies makes you have some weird cravings! Ooh,

TAKE 1

RED

your eyes are so big and swollen too!

TAKE 3

WULF

Just a side effect of all the medicine the apothecary put me on.

TAKE 1

RED

But you didn't go to the apothecary, grandma.
(Red gets up and heads over to Wulf, grasping his hand compassionately, stroking his wrist.)

TAKE 3

RED

You said since rabies was incurable
there was no point.

TAKE 1

RED

Grandma, does rabies make you all hairy as well?

TAKE 2

WULF

Y-Yes, darling, rabies has lots of interesting side effects. Now come here

TAKE 3

WULF

and sit on Grandma's lap, and she'll tell you a story.

TAKE 1

RED

Oh, Grandma, I'm too old for stories, does rabies make you forget things too? And besides I was talking to the doctor and he said you need to take it easy, shouldn't you get in bed, Grandma? I could join you if that would make you more comfortable, but isn't rabies contagious? I mean if we-

WULF

Stop! Eating! Your Grandmother!

TAKE 1

WULF

Oh my god,

TAKE 3

WULF

it's creepy! I'm a serial killer, do you get it?

TAKE 2

WULF

A serial killer! You'd think I'd be used to this kind of bullshit but seriously, you're eating your own grandmother! I mean I was going to but it's not like I know her, it's

Red managed to escape, but so did Wulf, who went on to claim five more victims: the three little pigs, the boy who cried wolf, and a local boy named Edward Cullen. If you have any information about Wulf's whereabouts, call
